

The parentage of Isabelle Durham Sloan<sup>1</sup>

The proof that Isabelle Durham was the daughter of Frances "Fanny" Durham and an unknown father is found in the estate records of John Durham.

BACKGROUND

Isabelle Durham was born in Kentucky in 1850 according to the 1870<sup>2</sup> and 1880<sup>3</sup> censuses. She married Francis M. Sloan in Casey County, Kentucky on 23 February 1869<sup>4</sup> and this is the earliest record found for her.

On 10 July 1877, Isabelle and Francis sold "one undivided third part of one share of all the land owned by John Durham at his death, said share is Knowned as the share of Fannie Durham Daughter of said John Durham Decd."<sup>5</sup>

FANNY DURHAM, DAUGHTER OF JOHN DURHAM AND NANCY LUCAS

Fanny was one of eight children from John Durham's marriage to Nancy Lucas.<sup>6</sup> After Nancy's death John married Margaret Brown,<sup>7</sup> and his household in 1850 included children from both marriages:<sup>8</sup>

- John Durham, 54
- Margaret, 46
- John L, 21

Nancy Durham was the daughter of John Lucas, according to an 1851 deed. Since she was deceased by then, her children and three grandchildren were named as his heirs-at-law, beginning with the five oldest children shown in John Durham's 1850 household.

"This Indenture made this 16th day of May 1851 Between John L Durham Fanny S Durham Moame Durham Warriner Durham William J Durham Lafayette King Englis J King Nancy J King Coleman Durham William B Hatter & Polly Ann Hatter his wife who are children at law of Nancy Durham dec<sup>d</sup>...all of whom are heirs at law of John Lucas..."<sup>9</sup>

FANNY DURHAM'S MARRIAGE AND DEATH

Fanny Durham married William R. Perkins in Casey County on 31 January 1856<sup>12</sup> but neither the Perkinses nor Isabelle Durham were found in a strategic search of the 1860 census.

Fanny died in Casey County in October 1861. Her death record gives her age as 28 and identifies her parents as John and Nancy Durham.<sup>13</sup> She had two daughters, Josephine and Elizabeth Perkins, who were shown living with their father in the 1870 census.<sup>14</sup>

Reconciling conflicting information

Fanny's age as reported in the 1850 census conflicts with what was reported in her death record, the first yielding a birth year of 1830 and the second yielding a birth year of 1833. Two things suggest that 1830 is the more accurate year of birth:

First, the ordering of the children's names in the 1851 deed matches the ordering by age, from oldest to youngest, of the children still living at home in 1850: John L., age 21, is followed by Ann S. (Fanny), age 20, and so on — as with the census, this would have been a logical way to make sure all of them were named. These children are then followed by the ones who had left home by 1850, i.e., daughter Sally (her heirs), Coleman Durham and Polly Ann (Durham) Hatter.

Second, an 1833 birth year for Fanny implies a less likely child-bearing history for Nancy Durham, as shown below:

Birth year / birth order comparison based on two records<sup>15</sup>
1850 census		Fanny's death record
Child	Born	Child	Born
John L.	1829	John L.	1829
Ann S. (Fanny)	1830	Meomy	1832
Meomy	1832	Fanny	1833
Warner	1834	Warner	1834
William J.	1836	William J.	1836

Between Nancy Durham's marriage in December 1819 and the birth of her youngest child, William J., in about 1836, she bore eight known children over about 16 years, averaging one child every two years as would have been common for the time.<sup>16</sup> This is more consistent with the first scenario where, except for the one-year difference between John and Fanny, the children's births are spaced two years apart. The second scenario, on the other hand, reflects a three-year gap between the two oldest children followed by three children — Meomy, Fanny and Warner — born a year apart.

<sup>15</sup> More precise birth information has been found only for Meomy, whose grave marker also shows the year of birth as 1832: Findagrave.com (<https://www.findagrave.com> : accessed 18 December 2019), photograph, gravestone for Meomy Durham (1832-1877), memorial page no. 17742126, Casey County, Kentucky.

They generally had their first child one year after marriage, and subsequent children were spaced two years apart."

JOHN DURHAM'S ESTATE

John Durham died in about 1873 and Coleman Durham was appointed Administrator of his personal estate on 24 March 1873.<sup>17</sup>

In November 1873, W.R. Perkins was appointed guardian of Josephine and Betsy M. Perkins (his daughters by the deceased Fanny Durham), who were "heirs-at-law of John Durham, Decd."<sup>18</sup>

John Durham's widow, Margaret, died in June 1877<sup>19</sup> and Milton H. Durham was appointed Administrator of her personal estate in July.<sup>20</sup> Milton was the son of John and Margaret Durham, shown in their 1850 household but not named in the 1851 deed as one of Nancy (Lucas) Durham's heirs.

At the January 1878 term of court the heirs of John Durham petitioned for the distribution of the "dower lands allotted to Mrs. Peggy Durham, decd." Instructions to the commissioners on the allotments to be made included one "To Bettie M. & Josephine Perkins & Izabella Sloan Jointly 1/11 of said land."<sup>21</sup>

As previously cited, Francis M. and Isabelle Sloan sold Isabelle's share in July 1877, "one undivided third part of one share of all the land owned by John Durham at his death, said share is Knowned as the share of Fannie Durham Daughter of said John Durham Decd."

This is one of two deeds concerning John Durham's land that predates the 1878 court order. The other was executed on 26 December 1876 when James M. Durham sold "1/4 part of 1/11 part of land possessed by John Durham at his death."<sup>22</sup>

From the language of these deeds the Sloans and James Durham were selling their right, title and interest in the land rather than the land itself, and the portion due to Isabelle Sloan would have been known as of John Durham's death in 1873, i.e., that he'd had 11 children including daughter Fanny, who died in 1861 leaving three heirs.

The same would be true for James M. Durham. The partition order directed that an allotment be made "To Marion Durham James M Durham Tolintha S Durham & Lucretia Durham Jointly 1/11 of said land."<sup>23</sup> These were the heirs of John Durham's son Warner, who died in 1864.<sup>24</sup> Warner Durham and Sally Perkins were named as the parents in James M. Durham's birth record<sup>25</sup> and Lucretia Durham's death record.<sup>26</sup> Warner's three oldest children were part of his 1860 household, as James M., 4; George M., 2; and Sintha S. Durham, 2/12,<sup>27</sup> and all four children were in the widowed Sally Durham's 1870 household, as James M., 14; George 13; Malinda, 11; and Luisa, 6.<sup>28</sup>
